Galatians

“Would you like chocolate or strawberry?”

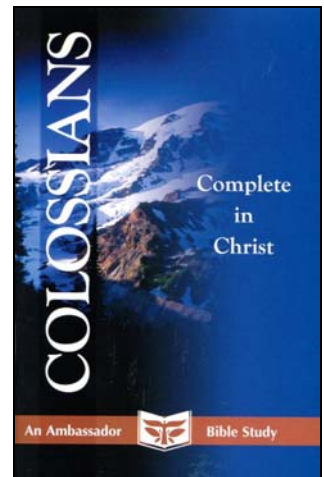

“Both,” we may answer when given such a choice. Many choices in life provide for such an option, but some do not. We cannot have the light on and off. It is one way or the other. The engine is either running or it is not. The two possibilities are mutually exclusive.

What about when it comes to salvation? Is it by a gift (grace) or by my efforts (works)? Paul’s letter to the Galatians shows us the answer.

Colossians

When life is empty, what will fill it and make us complete? Do we go to horoscopes, tarot cards, and astrology for answers? Is Jesus just another prophet?

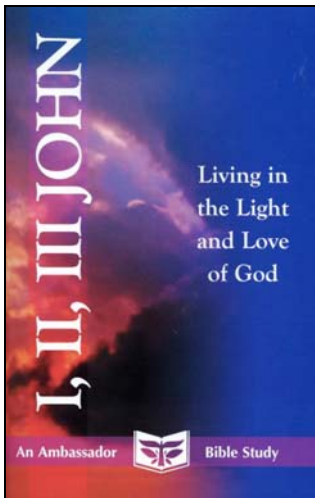

Paul lovingly leads the Colossian believers through a web of lies and false teachings infiltrating the church and points believers to the truth.

I, II, III John

Is there such a thing as absolute truth? Many people think the answer to that question is no. “Truth is relative,” they say. “Right and wrong are determined by the situation. What ultimately matters is what you think and how you feel.”

The Apostle John gives God’s answer to those who deny that truth is absolute.
